CLASS WILL

My Friends, as executor of the estate of the Jefferson High Graduating class in the year of Our Lord, One thousand nine hundred and thirty seven, I have solemnly summoned you hither to hear the last will and testament of this galaxy of most illustrious seniors.

We, the Senior Class of 1937, being mentally and physically sound do hereby bequeath the most auspicious qualities and properties in our repertoire to those whom we deem most deserving, in hope that they will be received as enthusiastically as they are given.

Item I. We hereby decree, bequeath, and will the following qualities and possessions.

Article I. Corgan Brown's "Caruso-like" crooning to our campus canary Dick(Personality)Horne.

Article II. Mary Fox's folk dancing accomplishments and "May-timing" (remember the "Maria Maria") to "Shorty" Coleman.

Article III. To Alice Pierce, Maggie McNab's braces.

Article IV. Richard Hollins' accomplishments in English IV to Howland Kenyon. (Poor Boy)

Article V. Ruth Staebner's executive abilities, to that fiery orator and potential presidential candidate, Webster True.

Article VI. Joe Harmon's wisecracking to Robert Purvis.

Article VII. To Virginia Roberts, Betty Carter's power of eloquence in that renowned Civics Class.

Article VIII. Earl Fowler's commanding voice to Philip Hevenor.

Article IX. Dorothy Allen's demure mien to Marion Sparrow.

Article X. Lucelyn Knox's typing accomplishments to Mary O'Connor.

Article XI. To Mr. Scott, the Wrigley Chewing Gum Factory for use at next year's basketball games--

Article XII. Wimpy Williams' school girl complexion (by special request of the Jones) to the fair damsels of the Junior Class.

Article XIV. Dorothy Cornell's shyness to that "Shrinking Violet", B. Davis.

Article XV. Dick Washington's lady-killing ability to that hand some Junior, Richard Wood, who is exhibiting all the qualities of and up and coming Romeo--well, coming, anyhow.

Article XVI. To Margaret Dellinger, Edith Wood's Hopburnlike histrionic abilities.

Article XVII. Billy Thomas' knack of graduating without attending school diurnally, to David Thomas. (No relation)

Article XVIII. Mitzi Payne's car to Howland Kenyon, who perchance might start taxi service between the chicken coop and the school house.

Article XIX. Edmund Olson's extreme boisterousness to Josephine Pinkard.

Article XX. Donna Carrol's ability to "trip the light fantastic" to the Junior Boys.

Article XXI. To the entire Junior Class, one of Catty Cooke's lunches for use throughout the next term, the remainder of said mid-day snack to go to charity.

Article XXII. Joyce Beland's lackadaisical lingo to Mr. Jones.

Article XXIII. Loren Parnley's platinum hued curls to Mary Roberts, who perchance pines for those tresses "a la Harlow".

Article XXIV. Marion Elliott's ability to crash the columns of the Phantom to Emma Dellinger.

Article XXV. Betty Hunt's daintiness to Ann Cline.

Article XXVI. To Clifford Turner, the senator from Dunn Loring, Walter Hallman's baseball ability.

CLASS WILL

Article XXVII. To Lewis Hoffett, all the quotations from Hamlet which Jack Dale didn't learn. "Words, words, words."

Item II.

To the faculty, our sincere appreciation of their splendid cooperation and whole-hearted efforts to aid us in our climb to success.

To the student body, the desire that the traditions of Jefferson be carried on, that good sportsmanship always be exercised, and that "Excelsior" be the motto of the Jeffersonians in keeping our Alma Mater close to the top in the realm of educational institutions.

"For Parting is such sweet Sorrow---"

To which we set our heart and hand this fair day in June

In Witness Paul Harmon

Who'll forget - -

Mitzi Payne's dashing about?
Joe Harmon's wise cracks?
Catherine Cooke's giggle?
Ruth Staebner's good disposition?
Richard Hollin's slow progress through English IV?
Earl Fowler's bursts of genius?
Mary Fox's Chemistry ability?
Wimpy William's chewing gum?
Corgan Brown's swollen tonsils?
Dorothy Allen's nice appearance every day of the year?
Walter Hallman rushing in after tardy bell?
Jack Dale's scintillating personality?
Eddie Olson's faithfulness?
Tex Parmely's histrionic experiences?
Dick Washington's "Hel-lo"?
Billy Thomas' monthly school appearances?
Chauncey Butler's ability to see a thing through?
Joyce Boland's ingenuity?
Donna Carroll's good looks?
Betty Carter's serious trend?
Dorothy Cornell's tininess?
Marion Elliott's great loves?
Mary Fox's grand Mary Fox?
Betty Hunt's sweetness?
Eula Mae King's songs?
Luellyn Knox's abilities in almost anything?
Maggie McNab's generosity and ailments?
Edith Wood's quality pipe-smoking ("Believe it or Not")?

March 1909

In a magnificent opera house I see Corgan Brown trucking helter skelter, a-foot, across the stage, a tear in his eye, a sob in his voice, as he wails "Poor Butterfly".

Mary Fox is still a West End debutante. Having had 2 trips to Paris, she can't be beat for looks and style.

Dorothy Cornell is a tap dancer. She's teaching Fred Astaire new steps.

Donna C. is married to C. Gable and rather bored with the studio routine.

Edmund Olson, by the way, is doubling for Tarzan in the movies.

Earl Fowler a tight rope walker? No! Yes! He's on his own, too. I see him in the "Capital" thrilling a vast audience balancing perilously on a string over their heads.

Dick Washington is a guide at Mount Vernon.

"Now on your left is where my grandfather-----"

Ruth Staebner is editor of the Ballston Bugle. She rides to and from work in a chromium plated roadster.

Edith Wood is post mistress at Falls Church, "Believe It or Not!"

Betty Carter is pitcher for the Boston Red Socks. They say she's a second Babe Ruth

Walter Hallman is owner and manager of Wally's Hot Dog Tavern, - and does he drag in the dough?

Dorothy Allen is inventor of a new and scientific "Allen-ized" toothpaste. On the Allen-ized tooth paste hour we hear notables tell how it put a shine on their teeth in a few days.

Joe Harmon with his Ipan smile has become a famous movie star and is at present appearing in his latest smash hit, "Harmoniana".

Jack Dale is pretty independent these days. But 'tis rumored that he sells all his jokes to Joe Penner and Jack Benny, respectively. He lives in a penthouse in Manhattan.

Joyce Boland is now mistress of ceremonies at the newly erected Casino in Falls Church "The Crimson Cashew" by name.

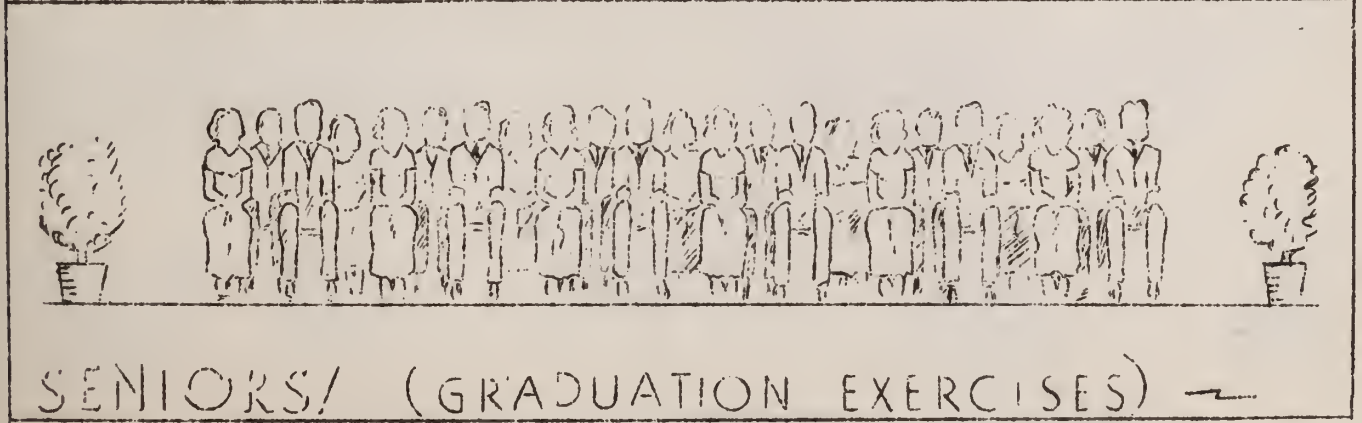

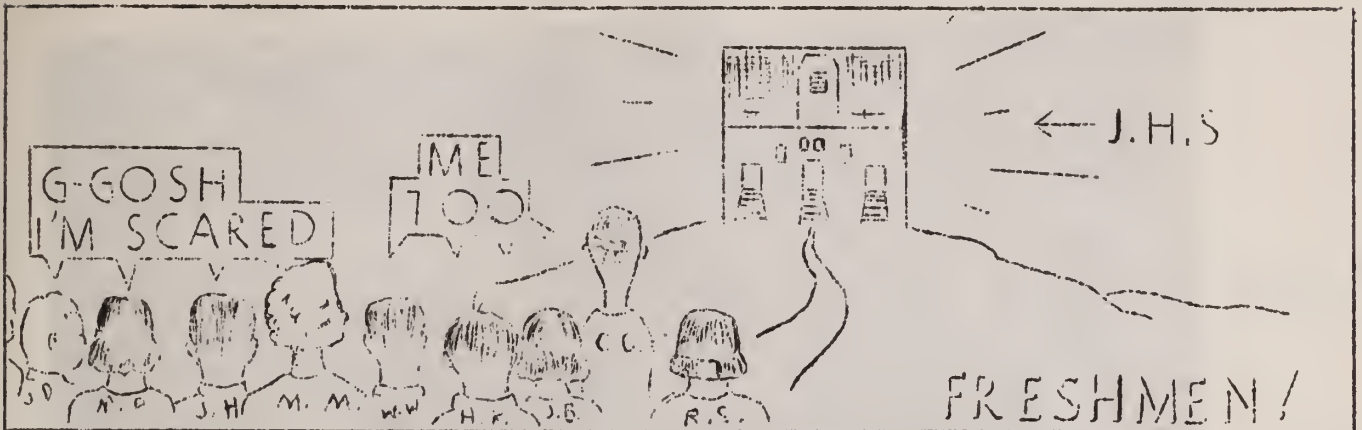

Betty Hunt has given up her idea of joining the Navy and has opened a cattery and doggerly at 42nd and Broadway, instead.

In the same circus with Richard Hollins, I see Billy Thomas playing with cats. Yes, sir, he's the new lion tamer and the kittens really behave themselves when he drives about the cage in his new Pontiac. But where's the traditional Chevvy?

And while Sultide was amusedly watching Billy Thomas oh, so bravely tame the kitties, I tipped quietly out of the room (I made no noise on the carpeted floor) and was just nearing the skylight (I had no funds when much to my chagrin I stumbled on a chair and fell crashing to the floor.

Wearily I climbed back in bed, covered up, closed my eyes and just waited for another one to go by.

Well, folks, "they" have done it again! Those amazing Jefferson Jaguars have walked off with another county basketball championship! And what's more, sports fans, they once again copped the crown without dropping a single encounter!! When they won their final game this year, it marked their twenty-fourth victory in a row in league competition, the Cats also being undefeated in the two previous years, and in addition, marked the fifth straight championship! That, dear readers, is a sample of the miracles that Coach Scott can perform and is performing. Congratulations, to Mr. Scott and to the boys, and the best of luck for next year!

Among the various activities of our newly-organized choir during the year of 1936-37, the two most prominent features were the concerts presented at Christmas and in the Spring. Field trips were made first to Richmond, then to South Carolina, and again to Richmond. The choir sang before the Woman's Club in the home of Mrs. John Bowyer. Several appearances have been made before our P. T. A. as well as before the Fairfax Chamber of Commerce. They also sang for the convention of the National Association for Teacher's and Supervisor's Permanship held in the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington. Appearances have been made in many of our local church services. The choir sang for the "In and About" Music Club of Washington under the request of Dr. Barnes, a well known Washington musician. They also sang for the annual banquet of the Masons in the Masonic Temple. One radio broadcast was given while on a Richmond trip. The final appearance of the choir this semester will be at the Commencement Exercises, June 8th.
